

Dr. Hiromichi Fukui
Professor, Faculty of Policy Management,
Research Director, Global Security Research Institute
Keio University
5322 Endoh, Fujisawa, Kanagawa, 252-8520 Japan
Phone: 81-466-49-1198, Fax: 81-466-49-1334
E-mail : hfukui@sfc.keio.ac.jp

Dr. Hiromichi FUKUI has graduated from Nagoya University in 1980. He holds a Doctor of Science in Earth Sciences from Nagoya University in 1987. He is a Professor of Faculty of Policy Management, the Graduate School of Media and Governance and Research Director of Global Security Research Institute of Keio University. Before joined Keio University in 1996, Prof Fukui worked as a chief scientist in the Research Institute of Japanese Bank. He has extensive experience in technical assistance overseas as an expert of GIS for JICA and World Bank.

His current research interests include regional planning, ecological development and global environment issues with emphasis on spatial information sciences. He has served on the secretary general of GIS Association and ISDE-Japan. He also served on a member of the board of directors in Center for Environment Information Sciences, senior scientist of JAXA and on the guest professor of Chinese Academy of Science. His specializations are in Geo-spatial Informatics and Environment.